University of Essex

Using big data to analyse crime victims' experiences and (dis)satisfaction

Presentations will draw on the Crime Survey for England and Wales and other large criminal justice datasets held by three Essex-based ESRC-funded big data centres: the UK Data Archive and Service, Business and Local Government Data Research Centre, and the Institute for Social and Economic Research's Understanding Society investment.

12 Feb 2020, 13.30-16.30, University of Essex

[by invitation only]

Programme

13.30-14.00   Registration and buffet lunch

14.00   Welcome from Prof Pamela Cox

14.00-14.30   Prof Andromachi Tseloni, Nottingham Trent University, 'Crime victimisation inequalities: An overview'

14.30-14.45   Dr Elisa Impara, University of Essex ESRC Victims' Access to Justice project – 'Tracking victim (dis)satisfaction in the Crime Survey for England and Wales'

14.45-15.30   Dr Alita Nandi, ISER, University of Essex, 'Using Understanding Society crime and victimisation data' Dr Sharon Bolton, UK Data Service, 'Using UKDS crime data collections'

15.30-15.45   Refreshment break

15.45-16.15   Dr Alex Quiroz Flores, University of Essex, Chief Scientific Adviser, 'Crime and the Night-time Economy in Essex: A Data Science Approach' Prof Pamela Cox, University of Essex, ESRC Victims' Access to Justice project – 'Moral economies and victim entitlements'

16.15-16.30   Open discussion and wrap up

This invitation-only workshop is supported by the ESRC-funded project, 'Victims' Access to Justice' and the following units hosted within the University of Essex:

- Department of Sociology's Centre for Criminology
- Institute for Social and Economic Research, and ESRC 'Understanding Society' team
- UK Data Archive and Service
- ESRC Business and Local Government Data Research Centre

Please direct queries to Prof Pamela Cox, University of Essex, pamcox@essex.ac.uk